Hosted by:

People & Dogs in the Outdoors Seminar

The Outdoor Recreation Network is pleased to announce that bookings are now open for its upcoming seminar on the hot topic of people and dogs in the outdoors, jointly hosted by Forestry Commission England and the Kennel Club. With input from key policy-makers, stakeholders, academics and practitioners, this informative two-day event will cover important contemporary policy and practice matters.

Topics will include:

- Opportunities and best practice management of visitors with dogs and canine sports in the outdoors to optimise the benefits and minimise any adverse impacts on other visitors, wildlife and farm livestock.
- Ensuring healthy dogs, healthy people, and a healthy environment, including the mental and physical human health benefits of dog ownership and assistance dogs, and veterinary updates on diseases associated with dogs in the outdoors.

The event will particularly focus on practical management measures, with lots of good practice sharing and networking opportunities.

There will also be an opportunity for 20 delegates who purchase full two-day seminar tickets to see firsthand an early morning sled dog training session in the forest. Four delegates will have the opportunity to ride with the mushers.

The seminar will be of interest to many. However, it will be of significant value to those interested in the benefits and opportunities that dogs can bring to people and those involved in the practical management of dogs in the outdoors such as site rangers, land managers and countryside visitor staff, and other outdoor recreation professionals.

Please book early for this stimulating seminar as “all things dog related” are of real interest to our member organisations. Places are limited.

Seminar Programme Day 1

Opportunities & best practice management of dogs in the outdoors

10 Years on - reflections on Dog Management

Stephen Jenkinson, Access Advisor for the Kennel Club, will open the seminar by reflecting upon the progress and development in the thinking, policy and practice of Dog Management over the last 10 years since the previous ORN Seminar on dogs.

Introduction to canine sports in the forest

Caroline Kisko from the Kennel Club and Vicky Tustian from the Forestry Commission will give an introduction and overview to canine sports in Thetford Forest, partnership work to date, and emerging trends in canine sports. Vicky will also cover how canine sports work in practice from a landowner perspective and how this is managed in a working forest environment with multiple different users.

Lightening Presentations- 'Hot Dog' Topics

Panel members will cover a series of 'hot topics' related to dog management in the outdoors.

Question time debate, exploration of opportunities & best practice

Just what is says on the tin! Your opportunity to ask some experts.

Inclusive design for Assistance Dogs & their human partners

Peter Gorbing, CEO from Dogs for Good will share good practice examples on how to plan for, welcome, and support Assistance Dogs and their human partners.

Finding The Right Balance

British Horse Society will share examples of pro-active work taken to address conflict between different users of the outdoors.

"Walk after Dark" Event (Optional)

Based on the exciting new "Bark after Dark" concept which is being held on Forestry Commission England sites this winter, delegates are warmly invited to join in a post-conference walk in the woods. As we walk through the woods you will hear about some of the work the Forestry Commission is doing with the Blue Cross to encourage visitors and their four-legged friends to walk after-dark whilst raising funds to care for homeless pets.

Seminar Dinner & After Dinner Speaker (Ticket Only)

Don not rush away. Enjoy a delicious 3 course meal in Lynford Hall Hotel. This is a fantastic opportunity to network mid-conference.

Seminar Programme Day 2

Healthy dogs & healthy people

Sled Dogs Site Visit & Demonstration

A rare opportunity to see sled dogs being trained in Thetford Forest. Experience the sights and sounds of an early morning husky training session and speak with the mushers. Four of the delegates attending will have the opportunity to ride with the mushers on a training run. Book early as spaces for this weather-dependent session are limited and will be allocated to those who book two-day seminar tickets.

The business benefits of welcoming dogs & their owners to your estate

Josephine Lavelle, Head of Marketing, Brand & Communication, will showcase some of the campaigns that Forestry Commission England have undertaken which are focused specifically on dogs and their owners and the multiple benefits that this has delivered for the organisation.

Commercial Dog Walking

Stephen Jenkinson from the Kennel Club will give insights into the profession and how landowners and managers can influence this group of regular users.

Healthy People

A presentation by Dr Carri Westgarth BSc MPH PhD, Lecturer in Human-Animal Interaction at University of Liverpool. Carrie will share some of her ongoing research with dog owners focused on the physical and mental health benefits of dog walking and ownership. Carrie will also summarise and present research undertaken by colleagues centered on dog bite prevention. Finally, to finish she will cover some top tips on how to reduce the risk of you, your colleagues or other visitors getting bitten by a dog.

Healthy Dogs

In this session Bridgette Hall, Recreation Manager for Forestry Commission England will be joined by a veterinary expert to cover the latest issues in dog health and what this means in terms of practical management implications in the outdoors.

Healthy Environment

Dawn Rayment, People and Wildlife Ranger for the New Forest National Park, will share learning from the work undertaken in the New Forest to help dog owners be part of a healthy environment.

Shaping the legacy of the conference

Putting conversations into action! This session will be facilitated by Bridgette Hall and Stephen Jenkinson.
